SUBJECT: TRIALS KICK OFF FOR JI-LINKED MILITANTS FROM POSO

REF: A. JAKARTA 2101
1B. JAKARTA 826
1C. JAKARTA 194

Classified By: Pol/C Joseph Legend Novak for reasons 1.4(b) and (d).

11. (C) Summary: Trials of nine alleged JI-linked terrorists from Poso, Central Sulawesi, have begun. The accused have been indicted for several Poso-area attacks, including: the bombing of a market; the beheading of three schoolgirls; and the assassination of two pastors. All nine suspects face charges which could carry the death penalty. The USG-supported Attorney General's Task Force on Terrorism is prosecuting the cases in solid fashion. End Summary.

JI Links

12. (SBU) The trials of nine suspected terrorists from Poso in Central Sulawesi recently kicked off in Jakarta. Information on the nine men is contained in para 8. The men were arrested by Indonesia's key anti-terror police unit, Special Detachment-88 (SD-88), in the wake of a deadly confrontation between police and Laskar Mujahiddin militants in Gebang Rejo Subdistrict, Poso City, in January (ref C). The suspects are connected to Jemaah Islamiyah's (JI) "Tanah Runtuh" cell. The leader of the group, Hasanuddin (one name only), is now serving a 20-year sentence for his role in the 2005 schoolgirl beheadings (ref B).

13. (SBU) The accused have been indicted for involvement in several Poso area attacks, including:

- the bombing of markets in Tentena and Palu in 2005;
- the beheading of three Christian schoolgirls in October 2005; and,
- the assassinations in 2004 and 2006 of two Christian pastors.

Trial Venue Moved

14. (C) As with previous cases involving violence in Poso (ref A), the trials were moved to Jakarta both for security reasons and to avoid inflaming passions in Poso, a religiously mixed area. This creates difficulties for prosecutors, as witnesses must be flown from Sulawesi to testify. According to our court monitor (please protect), SD-88 expects to be able to fund the travel of approximately 20 Poso witnesses. SD-88 officials reportedly would bring as many as 50 witnesses if funding were available.

The Charges

15. (C) The AGO's Task Force on Terrorism and Transnational Crime is coordinating the trials. The nine defendants are charged with multiple violations of the 2003 Anti-terror Law, including: article 15 (conspiracy to commit terrorism); articles 6 and 7 (committing terrorist acts); and article 9 (possession of weapons with intent to commit terrorism). Articles 6 and 9 both carry a maximum penalty of death if there is a conviction. According to our court monitor, prosecutors may seek the death penalty for two of the accused if there are convictions, but not for the other seven.

16. (C) The suspects are being defended by members of the Muslim Defense Team (TPM), a group which often represents extremists. In past trials, the TPM has almost always filed a formal objection to the charges (a process known as "exception"), claiming that the Anti-terror Law is unique and that SD-88 is an agent of foreign powers. In the current cases, however, the TPM have not employed this tactic. According to our court monitor, this may indicate that the TPM will not substantially dispute the facts of the cases.

AGO Effective

JAKARTA 00002346 002 OF 003

17. (C) There have been some minor disagreements between police and prosecutors over how to proceed with the trials, especially whether to try all suspects together or to break them up. The AGO ultimately decided to try seven of the nine individually and two other suspects together. Our overall impression is that the AGO is doing a solid job in coordination. The trials are being watched closely in Central Sulawesi and are important with respect to bringing terrorists to justice for some particularly brutal crimes.

The Suspects

18. (SBU) The nine suspects are as follows (all cited articles are from the 2003 Anti-terror Law):

-- Mohamad Basri aka "Ayas" aka "Bagong"

DOB: 10 August 1976
